Skill Development and Training in Drone industry

"India will need around one lakh drone pilots in the coming years as several central ministries are trying to boost the indigenous demand for drone services in the country", said Mr. Jyotiraditya Scindia, Civil Aviation Minister.

This demand across industry sectors calls for an increasing number of skilled and trained professionals in the drone industry.

Team NSN is extremely happy to launch a new vertical on this next big technological disruption - Drones! From this edition of Skill Times from NSN, we will be sharing interesting insights, expert interviews and engaging articles on the drone sector, capacity building, skill development and training opportunities, among others.

Through this endeavour, we aim to contribute to creating awareness on the sector and to stride towards making India a drone hub of the world by 2030.
